Graduation is a time to celebrate. We have had the privilege of seeing each of these students grow in their relationship to Christ, in their knowledge of His Word and in their service to others. We rejoice in God's goodness to each one of them and continue to pray for the days ahead. Several of them are still seeking the Lord's guidance as to what their future ministries will look like, and we appreciate your prayers for each of them. You will notice familiar faces in the center. Lauren and Artur both finished their degrees with highest honors, and Jim is standing right behind Lauren. Artur's Mom and his twin brother were able to be here to help celebrate. The Zapaters have a busy summer planned, with a month in Spain visiting family, a week in France leading a Youth Conference, and then heading to Dundee Scotland for six months to do an internship at the Steeple Church.

Another graduate is Christable, she has been in my mentoring group for the past 3 years. We have truly enjoyed sharing life together. I admire the way that she seeks the Lord in difficulties and also has the ability to truly share her heart in an open fashion. She is on the right hand side of the picture. She is trying to find a ministry position in the Netherlands that will give her a bit more experience before heading back to Ghana. She has a heart for youth and also would love to be able to teach. She is seeking the Lord's direction. Ruth, on the left, is from the Philippines and will continue in my group for the next year.

Jim has been busy this spring with defining the graduate profiles. The Program Advisory Committee met in May and they were affirming of the work that he has done. There is still much to be done in terms of curriculum and accreditation documents, but he was encouraged. He has also taught two classes. The first picture is from his Personal Leadership Development class. Each year the students have said really good things in the evaluations of this course. The second course was Developing Healthy Churches. This is the course that he had to take at the last minute in 2017. One of the things he has set up for this class is to have pastors of five different churches come in and talk about their visions for healthy churches. They present for an hour and then the students can ask questions. This has been very beneficial for the students. During this summer he will be creating a new class for the fall: An Introduction to Theological Education. We would appreciate your prayers for the development of this class and other administrative tasks that need to be accomplished.

Soon we will begin the close of Tyndale's fiscal year, so I will be heavily involved with that. While I have continued to be involved in the normal administrative duties of the last several years, I have also recently been tasked with purchasing the student books and developing and implementing Tyndale's data protection policies in response to the European Union General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). I guess you can teach an old horse a few new tricks. ☺

Just a quick update on Allie – she has begun Paramedic training while she is still working full-time as an EMT. It will be a busy and challenging schedule for a little over a year. As I write this, she is working nights, but has bid on a day shift that would help her to get more sleep and have a regular partner during work hours. We are hoping that she is able to move to that shift.

New students will arrive the last week of June. We have people coming from South Korea, Rwanda, U.S.A., Uganda, Ghana, Ethiopia and India. Please pray for these students as they adjust to a new culture, new roommates and a very heavy workload of studies. All of them will be starting Elementary Greek on 3 July.

We are grateful for God's provision through each of you. Your prayers and financial support sustain us in this ministry. THANK YOU!!!! Please let us know ways that we can be praying for you.
